Ar Wants, For Sale, For Rent, Lost and Found and Fersonal, four lines or less, only 25 cents A one inecrtion; 50 cents for three.

Popular Prices.

The National Drill executive committee has wisely adopted the popular price of twenty five cents for admission to the drill grounds and twenty-five cents as the price of chairs on the platform. The vast amphitheater erected for the National Drill is the largest ever constructed for any exhibition or fair ground in this country. At the admission price named the masses will turn out to witness one of the grandest spectacles ever presented to the American people. The management is entitled to, and will receive, the thanks of this community for the great executive ability displayed in every detail for the gathering at the national capital, representatives from every section of the country, of the national militia for a competitive drill.

The public schools and the departments should have at least one holiday, so that the teachers, scholars, and government employes could have one day to witness the evolutions of the citizen soldiers who constitute the pride and glory of the country. The President should pay this much respect to the great reserve power, on which the nation depends to defend its rights and the people to uphold its laws. The business houses should close at least one day so that all their employes can have the opportunity to witness the notable and unprecedented assembly at Camp George Washington.

Sugar.

There was consumed in the United States in the year 1886 584 pounds of sugar to each person, making a vast total of 3.111. $20,000 pounds, only 344,763,280 pounds of which, including maple and beet root sugar. were grown in the United States. Louisiana produced 286,625,920 pounds of care sugar, and Florida and Texas made .000 pounds. Of maple sugar there was 40,320,660, and of beet sugar, grown solely in California, 1,688,000 pounds.

The average amount of imported sugar consumed by each person, including infants, was 47 pounds, which makes the tax paid by or for each person 94 cents. This is a direct tax that every one can feel, and which has to be paid in eash for the benefit of a few hundred planters in fourteen parishes of Louisiana.

The average cost of the Imported sugar at the point of export was 2.84 cents per pound. The average freight would make this 3 cents at the port of delivery where the duty was paid, making the cost to the importer 5 cents per pound. Any consumer can see that the added cost of 2 cents was paid by him.

The indications are that the production of beet sugar in Europe this year will reach the enormous quantity of 2,580,000 tons. The result is that the markets of all of Europe are practically closed to Cuban sugar with the exception, of course, of This makes the United States practically the sole sugar market for Cuba. and 96 per cent. of her sugar now come here. The existence of the sugar plantations, the rallroads of the Island, and almost its entire business is now dependent on the United States. It is with the knowledge of this fact, of the dependence of Cuba on the United States to the extent of 54 per cent, for a market in which to sell added to the apprehension that that market may also be taken by other sugar produc ing countries from Cuba, that leads its lababitants to urge upon the Madrid gov ernment the immediate negotiation of a treaty of commerce to put the Island in more barmonious relationship with its natural market, the United States.

The production of beet sugar bas more than doubled in Europe in the last few years, while the cost of production has been materially lowered. This has been effected by government aid in Germany, France, Russia, and Belgium. With the exportation drawbacks now allowed, beet sugar can be purchased at but little over two cents per pound, and freightage is a lew that it can be brought across the At lantic ceens, 3,500 miles, and sold in competition with sugar raised almost on our casts.

Decrease of American Shipping.

In 1800 the American flag was carried o sailing vessels engaged in the foreign trade that had a total tonnage of 2,496,894 tons In 1886 the tonnage is reduced to 1,088,041 In 1856 we built 306 ships and barks, 103 brigs, 594 schooners, and 497 sloops, canal teats, and barges, with a total tonnage of 404,054 tons. In 1886, thirty years after, we built eight ships, one brig, 275 schooners, and 191 aloops, canal boats, and barges with a tonnage of 50,985 tons.

In 1856 our foreign commerce amounted to $591,000,000; in 1886 it amounted to nearly three times that sum. We carried most of it in our own ships in 1850. We carry practically none of it now. American sailing ships were the fastest and best on the ocean because American laws encouraged their building. Steam is practically doing away with the sailing essel, and American steamers would swarm on the seas, and be the fastest and best if a wise policy fostered their building. we have that policy with Democratic free traders in power is a question the people should ask, and the answer would be, NO.

Imports and Exports for April. The report for April of our foreign com serce is not yet issued, but preliminary reports of the exports of principal products reveal the fact that the imports for the month will be largely in excess of the exports. The following shows the outward movement of the principal products, ac-cording to the preliminary returns just issued, which cover ab ut 981 per cent. of the total exports of those products:

attle and hogs. . Total, five classes....... 30,896,723 38,110,267

Deducting the aggregate for 1886 from the recorded total of April in that year, we find that the remaining exports, not included in the exports of the five classes from principal ports, were $15,997,081 in value. If the amount this year should prove to have been as great outside of the exports above specified, the value of all merchandise exports would be only $40,-800,000, and the excess of imports over exports not less than $17,200,000. It is obvious, however, that some decline in the remaining or minor exports may reasonably be expected, which would further swell the excess of imports.

Except in May, June, and July, 1882, here has been no month since 1873 when the imports exceeded the exports more than $10,000,000, and it was the scarcity of grain, caused by the failure of the crops in 881, which caused such a collapse of exports in 1882. It will be observed by the able given above that the exports of bread stuffs show the only increase over 1886, and that the principal falling off is in the cotton export.

The Religious Beliefs of the People of the United States.

The only country in the world where there is absolute freedom as to religious ba-liefs and worship is the United States, and this fact gives us a greater variety of relirions than can be found anywhere else.

The latest compilation on this subjecshows that there are, in 1887, 132,435 churches, with 91,911 ministers and 19,018,-977 communicants, divided as shown in the following table:

NAME OF SECT.	Number of churche	Number of minister	Communicants.
New Jerusalem	80	78	5.

80 965 695 1,472 550 700 1,500 675 2,004 4,524 4,527 7,573 12,868 Unitarians Universalists..... Adventists..... Menuonites Total ... 132, 435 91, 911 19, 018, 97

These figures show first, that one-third of the entire population of the United States are actual members of some branch of the church edifice for every 145 of the actual members and for every 450 persons in the United States, and third, that there is a minister preaching the Christian religion in some form for every 210 members of the church and for every 630 of the entire population.

COWARDLY attempts at assassination such as were made by the mob at Toronto. are poor answers to the arguments of O'Brien, yet they seem to be the best and only ones that his opponents use. Brickbats and bludgeons are effective in their brutes such as those, who, in the proportion of more than a hundred to one, attacked Mr. O'Brien and his friends, but they onl convince the world that the men against whom they are used have right on their side.

THE letter of the interstate railway com mission, published yesterday morning, is a remarkable document. It apologizes for what it has done, says it can't do so any more, and only did suspend the fourth section that the commission might learn by experience and comparison what it did not know and had not the ability to learn any other way.

Board of Promotion,

Under the new rules of the civil service of promotion for the War Department has been appointed, composed as follows: Charles H. Carrington, clerk of class 4, office Secretary of War; Edward Shaw, clerk of class 4, surgeon general's office; Coliver W. Longan, clerk of class 4, adjutant general's office. The following are the auxiliary members of the board: Louis W. Solmon, chief of division of requisitions and secounts, office of the Secretary of War; Warren H. Oreutt, class 4, office of the inspector general; George W. Pratt, class 4, office of the adjutant general: Thomas Durac, chief clerk, bureau of military justice; Thomas W. #### BENEATH A ROSY CANOPY the Marriage of Frank Wetmore and

A pretty private wedding was celebrated on Capitol Hill last evening at the residence of Mr. A. L. Bliss, father of the bride. The high contracting parties were Mr. Frank Wetmore, of New Britain, Conn., and Miss Eila F. Bliss. Mr. Bliss has a summer place at Taunton, Mass., and spends the winter months here. The drawing rooms were profusely decorated with palms and forms and ropes of roses draping the windows, and a canopy of red and white and yellow roses backed with flowers, beneath which the ceremony was solemnized. In the dining room the table was wreathed with roses, and a string band was stationed in one corner. The ushers were the Messrs. C. E. and F. A. Pike, who wore wedding favors in their evening coats. Rev. A. Floridus Steele, of St. Mark's Church, officiated. The bride was most becomingly attired in a trailing robe of cream tinted satin, the coreage laced in front and pointed at the neek. The opening was edged with pearl passementerie, and she wore a double necklace of pearls about her throat and single pearls in her ears. The front of the skirt was loosely puffed across the front, and the panels were broad plaits laid horizontally. The skirt was edged with a thick silk cord. She carried a bouquet of valley lilles. Mrs. Biles, the mother of the bride, wore a high-necked dress of black satin, garnished with black jet and lace. Others present were Mrs. Wetmore, Mrs. Smith, Mr, and Mrs. Chas. Wetmore, Mrs. Smith, Mr, and Mrs. Chas. Wetmore, Mrs. Smith, Mr, and Mrs. Chas. Wetmore, Mass. A pleasant inclient of the evening was the surprise given the newly-midgroom when his mother and sister stepped forward and congratulated him at the close of the service. He thought they were in Connecticut, and they had come on an afternoon train. Wetmore, of New Britain, Conn., and Miss Ella F. Bliss, Mr. Bliss has a summer Tender feet cannot be remedied, but

Rev. and Sir Knight Schneider Says

Masonry Alds Christianity. The usual religious services on Ascension Day were held at Concordia Evangeli Lutheran Church, corner of Twentieth and G streets, last evening, the pastor, Rev. Louis H. Schneider, officiating. By special Louis H. Schneider, officiating. By special invitation Washington Commaudery, No. 1, Knights Templar, was present, having formed at the Masonic Temple in full uniform, and, headed by the Marine band, marched down Ninth street to Pennsylvania avenue, thence west to Twentieth street to the church. The commandery was officered as follows: Eminent commander, Warren H. Orcutt; generalissimo, John H. Olcott; captain general, Joseph Brummett. They were escorted by Columbia Commandery, No. 2, and Potomac Commandery, No. 3, there being in all about ninety knights in line.

Upon reaching the church they were shown seats in the body of the edifice immediately in front of the pulpit. Rev. and Sir Knight Louis H. Schneider chose his text from Acts 1, 4 and 5. The sermon was upon the order of Christ to the Jews, commanding them to depart from Jerusalem until the promise He had given them had been fulfilled. He first depicted the scene on Mt. Olivet on the occasion of the farewell discourse of the Master, and dwelled on Christ's command to the Jews not to depart, which was the last command given by the Saviour while on earth. He then by the Saviour while on earth. He then spoke upon the signal of the outpouring of the Holy Spirit, which was given them spoke upon the signal of the outpouring of the Holy Spirit, which was given them to depart.

He referred to the opposition against secret societies, and said that Masonry was most really a secret organization. Ninlilism was a secret society, because its objects and members are unknown, but Masonry was altogether different. Every one of its members were known, and it simply holds a secret, but in that saons every man would be a secret society, because he holds secress that no force could get from him. Masonry does not usurp the place of Christianity. The very proper rank to give it is that it is a very plain signboard on the way which points to Christ for salvation, and which is one of the true benefactors of mankind.

The sermon was of great interest, and was cloquently delivered. The knights were much pleased with their visit.

Two Sams Have a Fight. About 9 o'clock last night a dispute over the ownership of some money took place between two colored men, Sam Jennings and Sam Me-Keever, in a house in Snow alley, near Twenty fifth and I streets. The men grew very angry and came to blows, and resulted in Jennings theoring McKeever in the left breast, inflicting a severe but not scrious wound
